Adapting to working-life during COVID-19

By Sarah Cairns, HM Principal Inspector of Railways.

Hi, my name is Sarah Cairns. I'm a railway safety inspector, and I work for the TOC north team.

How has Covid-19 affected the work you do?

We are busier because we are checking all of the Covid-19 contingency plans and taking calls from companies and providing advice.

What we normally do is we go out quite a lot looking at the duty holders that we look after and inspecting on the ground, we are out quite a lot of the time.

I'm really glad the technology is working as well as it is.
